on me, but as I grew older, I realized how much I thought about the things she'd said to me.

"Always be a man, always face up to responsibility," she used to say. I only learned of her death through another Princeton resident, Golda Gottlieb. Apparently Mrs. Bryan had been ill for some time but had not told many people. She was that kind of person — not one to talk about her own troubles.

"Growing up here, you knew just about everyone. It was a small college town, and nothing happened but what you could picture the people involved. We moved in 1959, when my mother built a house in Lawrenceville.

"Both my parents are buried in Princeton Cemetery. I'm still affiliated with the Masonic Lodge. I come back here almost every week to see my uncles, Walter and Samuel Waters, or my father's sister, Flora Boggs, but I really hardly know anyone."

And although it is often said that boys and girls who grew up here move away when they become men and women, Mr. Zuhlicke still has friends here from his youth: Ramona Huff, Heyette Briscoe, Gwendolyn McQueen, Earl McQueen Senior, Francis Boyer, Vivian Robinson, Robert King, Jim and Odessa Carter.

"I hope I haven't left anyone out!"

After Princeton High, he went to Morgan State College in Baltimore (Class of '49), majoring in history and political science. The death of his father brought family responsibilities and Leonard had to give up the idea of law school. Instead, he started work for U.S. Steel, testing materials in the laboratory of the metallurgical department. That job lasted 16 years, and then in 1969, he joined the DCA's Division of Housing.

"It's so different now: student cars were unknown at Princeton High when I was there; now, the lots are all full and kids drive better cars than their parents."

"Each parent wants to do more for his kids than his own parents could do for him, and I'm not sure that's a good thing."

"We didn't wait for someone to offer us things: we earned our own money, and I believe you should work for what you get, or you don't appreciate it. The problem with our society is that we give too much away: in my work, I go to places like Newark and I see the second and third generation on welfare. I can't help but think they could break out, if they had a little initiative."

Now a Trenton resident, he's excited to be back home again.

"The Borough had never applied for anything before! Maybe, for the swimming pool complex, under the old Neighborhood Facilities Act, in the 1960's, I don't know ..."

"But I've been in this housing program for 14 years, and nothing has generated as much excitement in my mind as this Borough grant. It's always thrilling to start something nobody has ever done before."

Because it's new to the Borough, Mr. Zuhlicke explains, the municipality will have to "gear up." A director must be hired, to start the gear moving, and a conference is scheduled for this Tuesday on that subject. Mr. Zuhlicke will sit in on the deliberations: he believes the director should be a Princeton resident and, if possible, a resident of the John-

Witherspoon neighborhood

Then, the three surveys: the windshield survey, a close look at the roads and sewers and other parts of the infrastructure and finally, a house-to-house survey of 40 percent of the houses in the neighborhood.

"When all the data are analyzed, they should tell us the needs of the area, what the attitudes of the residents are, what kinds of funding formulas we should adopt."

"Then, we'll develop a work program for the first year, and this ends Phase I. Phase II — the final phase — will be implementation. I'll be here weekly during Phase I, and as often as I'm needed during Phase II."

"It's always nice," Leonard Zuhlicke says quietly, "to be able to do something for a community that has done so much for you."

Township to Review Anti-Noise Ordinance In Wake of Complaints

What is music to some ears can be sheer noise or even misery to others, given today's practice of music amplification and up-turned volume controls.

To keep the quiet residential quality of residential areas quiet, Borough and Township have ordinances requiring a special permit and governing body approval for the June graduation party, the one-time fund raiser or the neighborhood block party that plans on having amplified music. The neighbors know they will lose some sleep that night, but good will can prevail for a night.

Then too the permit specifies a cut-off time, and there are other provisions of the noise ordinance that set limits on noise levels in specified decibels. A homeowner can call the police if he believes the ordinance is being violated.

Complaints from neighbors of the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club prompted Mayor Winthrop A. Pike to schedule a review of the Township's noise ordinance at Township Committee's work session last Monday. In the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Subjack and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hochschwender, both of Journey's End Lane, which is alongside the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club. Police Chief Anthony Pinelli was also present.

Mr. Subjack, whose house is the nearest, says that amplified music emanates from the Club for up to eight hours at a stretch at least one day of almost every weekend. "We're almost having rock concerts in Princeton," he says.

Over Memorial Day, there were three bands each doing a two-hour stint and tuning up beforehand with some

Sex Discrimination Case against 3 Clubs Sent Back to State's Civil Rights Division

Sally Frank's sex discrimination case against Tiger Inn, Ivy and Cottage clubs has been sent back to the state Division on Civil Rights by the Appellate Division of Superior Court.

Ms. Frank, a 1980 graduate of Princeton and now a law student at New York University, had protested when she was a junior against the all-male admission policies of the three campus clubs. She filed suit against them because they would not admit her to membership.

Although the clubs are often referred to as Princeton University eating clubs, they are independent and have no legal ties to the University. Thomas Wright, University counsel has spoken of the "arms-length relationship" and has emphasized that there is no connection between the clubs and the University.

The Division of Civil Rights originally rejected Ms. Frank's case on the grounds that the clubs are private organizations; however, the court stated in Monday's ruling that "the furnishing of meals and food by way of the exchanging of gratuities, if no way else, suggests a nexus which may well constitute a challenge to the claim of the clubs to an individual private status."

The court, which was careful to state that it was not deciding the case on its merits, but simply returning it to the Division on Civil Rights, said that Ms. Frank was entitled to a more formal inquiry into the facts, as they relate to the Division's jurisdiction.

The fact that Ms. Frank has already graduated is moot, the court said. "The matter is of substantial public importance and should be resolved in the public interest ... The matter is vitally important in the context of the apparently expanding civil rights perimeters."

Telephone Call Leads To Arrest of 2 Burglars

A combined effort of Township and South Brunswick police, triggered by a telephone call from an alert Random Road resident, led to the apprehension and arrest Thursday of two burglars.

Both suspects have previous police records, according to Township Chief Anthony Pinelli. "Again," he said, "give credit to a neighbor." It marked the third time in recent weeks that a call from a Township resident has led to an arrest.

Arrested and charged with the burglary of a Princeton-Kingston Road home is Frank Lee Peoples, 21, of Somerset. He was later taken to Mercer County Jail in lieu of bail. According to Chief Pinelli, Peoples has a

Okay Expected for Air Rights Law; Public Hearing Set for September

The ordinance granting air rights to Collins Development over Palmer Square East, will be introduced again this Thursday at Borough Council's 8 p.m. agenda session, and this time it is expected to fly. If it does, public hearing will be Tuesday, September 13, at Council's regular September meeting.

The reason it never left the ground the first time, on July 20, is that Council voted 3-2 against its introduction. Council member Richard Woodbridge, who is said to favor the ordinance, was away on vacation or the tally would have been 3-3.

He will be back for Thursday night's vote, but his colleague, Peter Bearse, one of the three who voted "no," will be away. This shifts the balance evenly, and if everything goes the way Mayor Robert W. Cawley told reporters he thinks it will go, the vote to introduce will be another 3-2.

Regarding his possible vote on Thursday, Mr. Woodbridge — now back from vacation — said he first wanted to see what was presented.

"If the numbers are the same and the facts aren't much different from what I saw before, I do plan to vote 'yes.' We're getting a lot more money than the most reliable appraiser we could find, suggested we might get."

"It has the potential of adding a $50 million rateable to the Borough and it could reduce taxes — that's local, county and school taxes — by 15.4 percent."

"I was a little surprised it didn't pass," he added. "If I'd known that kind of nonsense was going to go on, I'd have made other vacation plans."

By the time of the September public hearing, all six members of Council should be in attendance, which will mean a 3-3 tie. Mayor Cawley, a supporter of the measure, said he would break the tie by voting in favor. He added that he expects a large and vocal audience at the public hearing.

This Tuesday, if a quorum shows up, the Planning Board is scheduled to approve the findings of fact related to its approval — with conditions — of Collins' plans for expanding the Nassau Inn.

Plans for that expansion include a bridge over Palmer Square East connecting the present Inn with a new addition across the street. It is for that bridge that Collins needs access to air rights.

The last time the Planning Board was scheduled to vote on the findings of fact it did not have a quorum. But Council agreed unanimously (5-0) at last Thursday's work session to approve the so-called "Omnibus" agreement with Collins. All it needs now are the signatures of both sides.

A basket-full of miscellaneous agreements based on negotiations going back to Collins' early discussions with Borough Council and Planning Board, it covers such matters as fire, security, use of Palmer Square space, traffic lights and car-pools.

Highlights:
• Design will avoid, as much as possible, small dark areas where the public will have to walk, and there will be "ample" lighting everywhere.
• Twenty-four hour security patrols will be provided, and private security systems made available for people who buy the residential units Collins plans to build north of Hulfish Street.

• The Borough police department will review these private security systems periodically to make sure they are adequate.

• Collins will provide special fire-fighting and fire-monitoring equipment in parking garages, and in buildings that do not face public streets. The agreement lists the equipment that is to be provided—including a wet sprinkler system for each floor of each house in the residential area—and requires a meeting at least once a year between Collins and the fire company and rescue squad.

• Collins will set aside parking spaces in the Hulfish garage for van-pool and car-pool parking, and will "co-operate" with the Borough Chamber of Commerce and "any other interested organizations" in joint programs like poolings, and remote-parking with shuttle service.

• A committee, representing Collins, the Borough and various other organizations, will be established to work out pooling.

• A minimum of 30 Nassau Inn employees will travel by pool or shuttle.

• If a remote-parking-shuttle system is used, Princeton University has agreed to provide the parking at Jadwin Gym, or a similar spot.

• For musical events, dance concerts, charity sales, plays, exhibits and the like, Collins will make available the new Palmer Square West Plaza that will be built across Hulfish from the present end of Palmer Square West; the Nassau Inn North Courtyard, facing Hulfish; and the corner of Palmer Square West and Palmer Square South, frequently known as the Green (opposite the post office).

• No open space reserved for public use may be used for "served" food or drink.

• Whatever rules Collins sets up for the use of these open space areas, must include provisions for round-the-clock use of two walkways that will cross the area north of Hulfish, from Hulfish to Paul Robeson Place (still to be developed).

• As development proceeds, Collins is required to present to the Borough Board proposals related to traffic, and the Borough will review and act on them.

• Under "Off-tract Improvements," the accord lists 13 intersections of various kinds which Collins will either build at its own cost, or contribute to the cost of. These include, for example, an improved Chambers-Paul Robeson intersection and the entrances-exits of the garages. In listing these improvements, the agreement draws on the Gorman Associates traffic study of September, 1981, and the P.R.C. Voorhees study of June, 1981, with revisions in 1982 and 1983.

Collins will replace the storm and sanitary sewer lines in Hulfish Street at the time of final site plan approval for the project north of Hulfish.

The air rights will be included, if and when the ordinance is passed.

Mr. Subjack says he has written letters to the Italian American Sportsmen's Club and sent petitions from his immediate neighbors as well as those on Turbine and Randall Roads requesting cooperation. He points out that the Sportsmen's Club building is under block, with no acoustical tile insulation. Bands play outdoors in the summer, and Jaside with the windows open in the winter, he says.

Having purchased his own decibel measuring device, he says he has clocked the music at levels of 75-80 dba, which is in excess of the Township noise ordinance. The ordinance sets 65 dba as the upper limit during the daytime and 50 during the evening. But noise levels also must not be more than 10 dba greater than

Township Planning $450,000 Bond Ordinance To Finance Wide Variety of Capital Projects

A mini-pumper for $34,125, road resurfacing for $50,000, and additional flood studies in the Harry's Brook watershed are among the items on the Township's 1983 capital budget proposed bond ordinance.

Township Committee spent most of its work session last Monday going over items such as these in order to prepare a single bond ordinance amounting to $450,000 to finance the projects. At the time of adoption in late spring, the 1983 Capital Budget that is appended to the 1983 Operating Budget is a planning document that later requires ordination. Many of the items are carry-overs from last year or even further back.

Sometimes items are deleted or reduced as they are carried over. Improvement of the Valley Road and Harrison Street intersection has been taken off the list, because Township Engineer Robert Kiser now believes that 100 percent County funding may be available to undertake this project. However, the $50,000 originally designated for the intersection improvement has been transferred to road resurfacing.

Mr. Kiser has his own wish list of Township roads he thinks are critically in need of attention — Snowden Lane, Mt. Lucas, Pretty Brook, Cherry Hill, Birch-Leigh. Some of these require widening, drainage correction and leveling, he says, and could push his wish list total to $700,000 altogether. Given $50,000, he settled for the two projects, Mt. Lucas to Herron Road and Birch and Leigh Avenue, that would be within this amount.

Shared Projects. The $34,125 is the Township's share of the mini-pumper or small fire engine which has already been ordinance by the Borough. Mayor Winthrop Pike pointed out that not only is this mini-pumper necessary for access to parts of Collins Development's proposed Palmer Square apartments and the enlarged Nassau Inn, all of which are in the Borough, but that there are several lengthy driveways in the outlying parts of the Township which cross small bridges that can not bear the weight of the big fire engines.

The Borough has also ordinance its share of capital improvements requested by the Sewer Operating Committee and roof repair for the Library. For the SOC, the Township's share of such items as a new pick-up truck to replace one that is 12 years old, major maintenance to the River Road plant which has not had repairs since 1964, and a replacement for a pumping station at Herron Road that, in the words of George Olexa, sanitary engineer, has "exceeded its life expectancy," will come to $108,513.

Similarly, the Township Engineer has asked for a new pick-up truck and snowplow to replace a 1969 Ford Bronco and a new four-wheel drive loader-backhoe to replace one that was purchased in 1968. The loader-backhoe will have attachments such as a compressor, enabling it to perform a variety of chores, such as pumping out ditches or digging up asphalt. The cost of the two vehicles is estimated at $74,000.

Other items approved for bonding by Township Committee include a guard rail on Cherry Valley Road in the vicinity of Heather Lane where erosion has created a ditch on the westerly side of the road, $10,000; repairs to drainage and shoulders on Cherry Hill Road, from Crestview Drive down the hill for some 1,100 feet, $50,000; piping to replace non-functioning chlorinator injectors in the Community Park diving pool, $6,000; and a new tennis shed to replace one built in 1965, moved three times and now beyond repair, $10,000.

The Flood Control Committee has resubmitted a request for funds for miscellaneous flood studies of the Harry's Brook watershed and conceptual design review of the detention basins serving this area. The $20,000 requested was approved by Township Committee.

It was decided that the engineer should review the drainage situation from Russell Road to Winant Road, $85,000 Neighborhood Preservation Program grant.

parking lot, before going ahead with $50,000 to correct the situation. Mr. Kiser was directed to put the funds to resurfacing other roads if the drainage corrections were not needed in this area.

Committee also authorized Mr. Pascale to prepare estimates for long overdue painting and outside maintenance to Township Hall, now the Township Police Department, and the Township Garage, but these estimates were not included in this single proposed bonding ordinance.

In other business, Committee passed, without a whimper but with some jocularity, the ordinance raising the cost of licensing male or female dogs "of reproductive age" that have not been neutered an additional $3.20 above the current $8 fee. "Of reproductive age" means six months and up, with no upper limit, according to a state veterinarian.

The Township had no choice but to bring its dog licensing ordinance into line with new laws passed this spring by the state to create an animal control fund. The fund is designed to reduce the numbers of unwanted stray dogs and cats and to make sterilization procedures available at low cost even to those who would have difficulty paying for such surgery.

BOROUGH BUSINESS
Signals, Housing, Zoning. A new traffic signal will be installed, possibly this fall, at the T-intersection of University Place and Alexander.

Princeton University, which asked for the signal, has agreed to pay for it — an estimated $24,000 — and to bear its operating costs. Like all new traffic lights, this one will need the approval of the state before it can be installed. At the Council work session last Thursday, the governing body also considered tearing up the John Street basketball court and using the space for additional housing. The Princeton Housing Authority, whose Clay Street project is across the street, has Federal (HUD) money for a building to house a workshop and possibly a community room.

If grants work out, that money might be combined with grant money to build the housing units and the work space on the same parcel of land.

Meanwhile, Borough Administrator Mark Gordon is working with Council members on the hiring of a director for the Borough's $85,000 Neighborhood Preservation Program grant.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

LEAF-SUCKING PESTS

with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

Mites, psyllids, leafhoppers, lace bugs and aphids are busily at work on trees and shrubs. They do untold damage from Spring thru Indian Summer, removing plant juices, causing chlorophyll to disappear and often causing a distorted appearance to the new growth. Rhododendron, Azalea, Andromeda and Firethorn leaves become chlorotic, mottled and unhealthy. Lace bugs, with tiny gray oval bodies and gossamer-like flat wings, are sucking juices from the undersides of leaves. Hosts of evergreens are yellowing and browning. It's likely the work of the red spider and aphids, all sucking plant juices. Turn over a copper beech leaf. It may be white with woolly aphid. The underside of a birch leaf may be gray with another kind of aphid. Aphids also cause leaves of Maple and Apple to crinkle and shrivel. Notice how dusty the leaves of some Oak, Hickory, Sour Gum, Silver Maple, Elm and Birch have become. It's mite damage!!

In addition to spray, affected plants should be deep root fed to minimize root damage.

Call WOODWINDS (924-3500). We're more than happy to help with your trees and shrubs.

A more detailed proposal for refining the zoning in the Central Business District was presented again to Council by Sydney Taggart of the Planning Board. Council supported her suggestions concerning facades and setbacks, but was cool toward proposals about designating historic sites, setting up criteria for changes in the use of a building and restricting building materials.

Mrs. Taggart is moving from Princeton, and Planning Board member Alma Field is expected to take on the project and develop its proposals more specifically.

VIGIL PLANNED

At Test Site. There will be a candle-light vigil on Saturday from 9-10 p.m. at the Naval Air Propulsion Center in Ewing to highlight the commemoration of the 38th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima. The vigil, which will include readings, songs, and silence, has the theme "Remember Hiroshima." Prevent Euroshima.

The Naval Center tests the jet engines of the cruise missile, part of a new generation of first-strike, destabilizing nuclear weapons NATO plans to deploy in Western Europe beginning in December.

People wishing to participate in the vigil should assemble at 8:30 p.m. at the Shop 'n Bag parking lot adjacent to the Center, which is on Parkway Avenue near the intersection of Scotch Road. Car-pooling from Princeton will leave from the Public Library parking lot at 8 p.m.

The vigil is co-sponsored by the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament and Pax

Alpha Properties Corporation will show how it would like to convert residential property at 274-76 Witherspoon to offices. Both applications require variances.

FACE LIFT UNDER WAY

For Nevelson Sculpture. The Louise Nevelson Library's front lawn has been sprouting scaffolding. "The sculpture is getting a face lift," says Allen Rosenbaum, director of Princeton University's Art Museum.

Entitled "Atmosphere and Environment X," the Cor-Ten steel work was given to Princeton in 1971 as part of the John B. Putnam, Jr., Memorial Collection of Contemporary Sculpture. Cor-Ten is a relatively new sculptural material—it also is used for bridges and buildings and thus is a thoroughly 20th century choice of materials for Miss Nevelson.

"Atmosphere and Environment X" was the first of a number of steel sculptures by this major American artist who refers to herself as "an architect of light." Miss Nevelson is 83.

The present "face lift" allows a soap and water wash, a light sanding and a repainting in the matt black that the artist favors. Miss Nevelson decided to paint Princeton's piece when "Atmosphere" was sent back to the Lippincott Foundry in Connecticut in 1978 because of severe rust.

Cor-Ten steel is meant to weather to a rusted patina, "but the fact is the rusting just goes on," notes Mr. Rosenbaum.

The Nevelson is just one of the many major works in the outdoor collection which will receive yearly (summer) maintenance, if they need it. "The bronzes, such as the Moore and the Lipschutz, have to be waxed," added Mr. Rosenbaum. "The Picasso doesn't need a thing this year."

Who's doing this work? Steven Pine, Karen Molleson and Pamela Popson are graduate students from the Pennsylvania Academy of

The two youths riding double were stopped for a violation and the operator faced further charges when a NCIC check of the bike's serial number revealed that the Schwinn Varsity model had been reported stolen by Lawrence Township police. The youth, a 17-year-old Trenton resident, was processed by Borough police and later released to his parents. The stolen bike was turned over to the Lawrence PD.

DRUNK DRIVER FAILS
To Elude Police. A Langhorne, Pa. resident faces a string of police charges after he failed to elude a police chase by State Troopers in Princeton Township.

Robert S. Camp, 21, has been charged with drunken driving, resisting arrest, operating with a suspended driver's license, reckless driving, failure to comply with an officer's signal and use of a car without the owner's consent. After processing, he was also charged with possession of a handgun.

Camp is currently being held in Mercer County Jail in default of $15,000 bail.

Camp's problems began shortly after three Sunday morning on the Princeton-Kingston Road where Troopers from the Hopewell Barracks were stopping cars, checking for drunken drivers. According to Township police, when Camp was initially signaled to pull over, he refused. When troopers told him a second time to pull over and indicated where he should park, he sped off on Princeton-Kingston Road and turned right onto Shady Brook Lane with police in pursuit.

Camp then turned left on

GIFT TO EDEN: Herbert Ruben, left, senior executive Vice President of Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner & Smith, Inc., presents a check for $12,500 to Dr. David L. Holmes, director of the Eden Institute, to help defray the costs of the renovations of Eden's new school building on US 1 and Logan Drive. With them is Eileen McCall, a member of the board of trustees for Eden Institute. Plans call for moving into the new facility this fall.

Gulick Road where he struck a 1983 Audi owned by Robert Durkee of 32 Shady Brook Lane. He continued on and pulled into a Gulick Road driveway where he turned out his lights and attempted to lie down on the floor of the car to avoid detection. He was observed turning into the drive by police, however, and arrested.

BURGULARS SURPRISED

Inside Hodge Road Home. Two teenage burglars loading items into suitcases inside a Hodge Road home were surprised last week when the owner returned home at 1:54 in the afternoon.

The suspects fled on foot when the owner shouted at them. Called to the scene by the owner, police searched the area without success. The only items known to be missing from the house, which was ransacked, are two $2 bills and a few coins. Police report the house was entered through a window.

The suspects were described as teenage black males. One was wearing red, knee-length shorts, police said. Det. Randy Sutton and Sgt. Timothy Huizing are continuing the investigation.

Coin boxes in three video games inside the Pizza Star were rifled, after the intruder gained entry by smashing the glass front door. It is not known if anything else was taken.

The thief then used a rock to break a window to enter Noah's Ark but apparently cut his hand in removing some glass, police said.

Police found blood on the glass and inside the pet store. They followed a trail of blood stains outside the store into the mall, across to Thrift Drugs and through the parking lot into the Grover Avenue Playground. The trail ended in high grass in a vacant lot off the northeast corner of the shopping center. "He had to have a pretty good cut to leave a trail that near the front gate of the Harold Williams Body Shop on Route 206 during the weekend, was driven away by a thief. Police said the car, valued at $5,500, is owned by a Wayne, Pa. resident. The theft was reported Monday morning.

A $700 dirt bike reported stolen last Wednesday by a Carman Place resident, had been recovered a week earlier by Borough police who found it abandoned in an Elm Road driveway with a damaged transmission. Police report the bike had been taken from a back yard shed.

A $275 chain saw was removed from the unlocked pickup truck of a Princeton resident while it was parked last week on Lytle Street between 9 and 10 p.m., and $40 was taken from a pocketbook lying overnight on a kitchen table in a Bertrand Drive home. Police report no sign of forced entry into the Bertrand home.

Township police also report an unsuccessful attempt to snatch a wallet and checkbook which were lying on a kitchen table last week in a Red Oak Row home and were visible from the outside. The would-be sneak thief was apparently frightened off and ran away, police said, after a futile attempt to push in a screen.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF
Parked Cars Targeted. Five incidents of malicious mischief, which never seems to go away, were reported last week by Borough police — three involving parked cars.

Two cars were parked in a rear lot of the Princeton Nursing Home on Maclean Street. An employee told police that someone had scratched obscene words on the hood of her 1982 Honda, and two days later, a Lambertville resident reported that the rear window of his 1969 Volvo had been smashed while it was parked in the same lot. Police report no entry into the car.

Thursday night around 8:15 while a Mercerville resident had stopped on Clay Street near John to fix a flat tire, someone threw a stone through the windshield of his 1973 pickup truck. Capt. John J. Bellow reports that police have a juvenile suspect in the incident.

A window on the north side of the Applegate Floral Shop on Palmer Square was broken last week during the night — there was no entry — and a vandal smashed a head of a parking meter on Prospect Avenue, the scene of repeated meter vandalism in the past. There was no attempt to pry open the coin box, police said.

Juvenile Bicyclists to Be Treated as Adults

Bicyclists, even those under the age of 17, are now subject to the same penalties as motorists if they disobey the motor vehicle or bicycle laws of New Jersey.

According to Clifford W. Snedeker, director of the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles, juvenile offenders will be treated just the same as adult offenders, with hearings in municipal court and stiff fines. That means that a 12-year-old bicyclist riding against the flow of traffic, or riding through a stop light or sign, is just as likely to receive a $60 fine as a motor vehicle operator who breaks the law in a similar fashion.

Mr. Snedeker offers a dozen tips that can keep young bikers out of court and out of trouble on the road:

- Ride with the flow of traffic — keeping to the right is the law of the road across the nation. As pedestrians we learned to walk on the left — facing traffic — if we had to use the streets, but that does not apply for bicyclists.
- Ride single file when riding with others. Allow room for motor vehicles to pass.
- Get off your bicycle and push it across busy intersections and railroad tracks. Use the crosswalk.
- Ride solo — one person on a bicycle meant for one.
- Hand signal your turns and stops.
- Stop and look before riding into the street from a driveway, alley or any other blind location.
- When possible, ride on streets with less traffic.
- Travel under your own power. Never hitch a ride from any vehicle.
- Watch out for pedestrians, particularly the blind person with a seeing-eye dog or a white cane with a red tip, and the slow walker who may have a physical problem.
- Keep both hands on the handlebars, except when signaling. Don't carry objects in your hands when riding — put them in baskets over the rear tire, balanced for safer, smoother riding.
- Ride in a straight line. Try not to weave or wobble all over the street.
- Be conspicuous at all times and avoid night riding. If you must ride your bicycle at night, wear bright colored clothing and use retro-reflective materials on your clothing, including leg lights on both legs (it is the action that gets the attention) and have proper front and rear lights on the bicycle that are in good working order.

Phone Company Plans Choice of 3 Rates for Home Customers

Like the mysterious tangle of wires inside your telephone, the complexities of A. T. & T. structures and new procedures are often hard to puzzle out — but extremely important.

The most recent rate proposal is one which would allow customers to choose a "message unit" system of billing.

"What," asks New Jersey Bell in the current Tel-news that goes out with every phone bill, "is a 'Message Unit' and why should anybody care?"

The telephone company is waiting for a ruling, due this fall, from the New Jersey Board of Public Utilities granting — or not granting, or changing — a request for rate increases. The idea, as a company spokesperson says, is to after-school program, parenting workshops, and a Wednesday program for children who are out of school because of professional growth or parent conferences.

Jan Gill, who has had 11 years of experience in education, will be the director of the Children's Center. Ms. Gill has presented workshops on preschool programs for the New Jersey Department of Education and the Educational Improvement Center, and has published in the preschool education field.

Beginning September 12, the preschool will open Monday through Friday, from 7:30 to 5:30, using the YMCA facilities. Parents may choose from a variety of full or part-time scheduling options.

Highlights of a typical day will include circle-sharing, small group experiences (which may include reading and math readiness, language and science), activity time (during which children choose from a variety of planned options), instructional swimming, gym and physical activities, and music. Field trips will also be scheduled regularly.

BACK PACKING TRIP

For Teenagers. The YMCA will sponsor a backpacking trip August 19-21, along the Appalachian trail for ages 13 to 17.
The trip will be led by Warren Elmes, an experienced woodsman who has backpacked in numerous areas across the United States, and has led many groups on outdoor and environmental trips.
There are a few spaces left for the weekend. Call the YMCA at 924-4497 for more information, or to reserve a place.

SYMPOSIUM PLANNED

On 'Intentional Communities.' An Intentional Communities Symposium will be held Thursday, August 11, at 8 at the Art House Place, Witherspoon Street and Paul Robeson Place.

Throughout history the longing for a utopian way of life has inspired groups of people to form experimental intentional communities. Such communities are often seen as laboratories for living; if a harmonious and fulfilling way of life can be proven out in a protected setting, perhaps the principles learned can be generalized and applied in individual lives everywhere. Ultimately to the entire family, it is reasoned.

Four veterans of several of today's most successful intentional communities will speak at the symposium. They are Dennis Brown, Peter and Tina Kafka, Vicki Twietten and James Hollenbeck. Using slides and videotape they will speak from their years of experience in community living on such topics as rules, roles and relationships; individual responsibility; spiritual orientation, and true leadership.

For information call 924-6622 or 921-1391. The requested donation is $3 and the pet.

What can a pet owner do to help stop this problem? Here are some suggestions from the Postal Service:
• Recognize that the dog owner is the key person responsible for controlling the pet.
• Teach each family member what they can do to prevent dog bites.
• Make a commitment to control your pet by keeping it restrained or tethered away from the mailbox or the areas the mail carrier uses for access to the mailbox. Or, keep the pet inside the house during the normal delivery hours.
• Realize that by helping prevent the pain and lost work time associated with dog bites, the dog owner is helping to protect both the carrier and the dog.

This touring cycling event offers riders of all ability levels the opportunity to explore the Princeton area by bike. The Princeton Free Wheelers has preselected the most traffic-free routes and will provide a free picnic lunch, fully marked roads, and color coded maps of the routes.

event is sponsored by the Society of Emissaries.

DOG DAYS HERE

For Postal Workers. According to the United States Postal Service, biting dogs are a problem throughout the year. However, during the warmer days of summer, more doors are open, more pets are outside, and the frequency of bites rises.

Somewhere in the country, every minute, a dog bites somebody. Last year, 6,879 of these victims were letter carriers.

Institute Changes Name

The New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman will now be called the North Princeton Developmental Center.
The name change is one of several involving state schools serving mentally retarded people in the state. The changes are intended to reflect the state's commitment to help reach their maximum potential.

PIANO SOUGHT

By Windsor Seniors. The West Windsor Senior Citizens are looking for a small piano for their meeting room in the West Windsor Township Hall. They would like to play it and sing around it.
A tax deductible receipt will be given for the donation of a piano. Call Township Welfare Coordinator Fran Ruch at 799-2400 or 799-0791.

THREE FILMS PLANNED

On Disarmament. The Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament will show three nuclear disarmament films on Thursday at 8 at Nassau Presbyterian Church.

HIKES OFFERED
Through Watersheds Land. Guided hikes of the 535-acre reserve of the Stony Brook Millstone Watersheds Association will be conducted throughout the summer at 1 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and at 9 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The reserve, located on Titus Mill Road in Pennington, includes streams, wetlands, wild forest, and research pond, and encompasses soil and topography typical of the region. Visitors can observe the varying habitats and botanical diversity along eight miles of nature trails and farmed land.
The hikes are free and no registration is required. For information call 737-3733.

EXCURSIONS PLANNED
For Retired Persons. The Princeton chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons has planned two trips in the coming months.

The group will leave August 28 for a five-day visit to Wildwood and the New Jersey shore, including Cape May.

Rain & Alarms Don't Mix
Probably the lone person not happy to see some rain visit the dry Princeton area Saturday night was the Township Police desk officer.

Some 40 calls from private alarm companies came in during the storm, reporting alarms sounding at clients' homes. "The electrical storm caused it," said Chief Anthony Pinelli. "It's difficult," he agreed, "but we try to check out as many as possible."
Ironically, a few years ago Township police had all direct alarm hookups from private homes and offices removed from its board of headquarters because of the problem of excessive false alarms.

risk and insurance, basic technical drawing and graphics, electrical measuring instruments, technical mathematics, fundamentals of radio, and climatology and meteorology.

The program also covers more traditional subjects such as beginning French, German, and Spanish; college chemistry and physics; business law; anthropology and economics; and college algebra and calculus. In the future, ETS plans to add new tests, possibly in computer science and more business subjects to meet the growing demand in these fields.

MS CHAPTER FOLDS
In Trenton. The Central New Jersey Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society at 120 Sanhican Drive, Trenton, has closed its doors. The reason given in a press release from the chapter is cash flow. The chapter has not made its national budget for the year, according to the release.

There was some discussion of the adequacy of the Police Department's decibel measuring device, particularly in the low ranges. This would be important for determining the 10 dba over the background level. Mayor Pike intimated that a new measuring device might be in order for the department.

Summonses have been issued on two occasions by Township Police. However, the ordinance as it is presently written, says the individual charged must be seen in the act of actually making the noise for the charge to stick. One summons was dismissed for lack of this proof, and in the most recent instance the individual failed to show up in court.

In rewriting the ordinance Mayor Pike and Township Committee will seek to do away with this "loophole," and make it possible to issue a summons to the owner of the property from which the offending noise is coming. Removing the permit requirement for events with amplified music was also suggested, inasmuch as it requires a lot of paper work for the police and few residents are aware of it. Removing the permit requirement would place greater reliance on the noise levels part of the ordinance, Committee believes.

How's 96 Degrees?
Hot, that's how. It was 96 in Princeton last Saturday — the high in the eight-day period from last Tuesday to this.

And humid, too. Starting with 90 last Tuesday, the mercury climbed inexorably to 91 on Wednesday; 95 on Thursday; a slide back to a brisk 94 on Friday, and then that 96 on Saturday.

Sunday it was 92; back up to 94 on Monday and a more comfortable — because less humid — 93 this Tuesday.

Figures are those of Leith Hollowell, who operates out of NOAA — the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration — at the Geophysical Fluid Dynamics laboratory on the Forrestal campus.

At Science Associates, they recorded only 3.27 inches of rain for the whole month of July. Over half of it fell Saturday night — 1.70 inches. Mr. Hollowell, in a different location, measured 2.05

... and meanwhile, at NOAA, the air-conditioning system in the computer terminal room has gone awry. Shivering and huddling around them, the computer staff stares grumpily at a thermometer registering around 60 degrees.

When one member of the staff went outside to read a rain gauge — his glasses fogged up.

the "normal" level when the offending sound is not present.

Mr. Subjack maintains that 35-40 dba is the average outdoor sound level. Mayor Pike, an RCA engineer who says he can hear the goings-on from the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club at his home on Leabrook Lane a half a mile away, says that a quiet living room is in the range of 35-40 dba, an orchestra going at full tilt, 100 dba, and that rock music has been clocked at 120 dba, which is painful to the ears.

There was some discussion of the adequacy of the Police Department's decibel measuring device, particularly in the low ranges. This would be important for determining the 10 dba over the background level. Mayor Pike intimated that a new measuring device might be in order for the department.

Anti-Noise Ordinance

"I want to be a fair neighbor," Mr. Subjack says. "All I ask is some cooperation." He has praise for Mayor and Committee for acting on his request that the matter be looked into.

The Italian American Sportsmen's Club has been in its present location on Terhune Road since 1946 — when Journey's End Road was a gravel drive leading to the two houses that were its nearest neighbor. Now it is a paved road, and there are six houses, largely built in the last five years.

Mr. Subjack thinks that perhaps with the installation of air conditioning and proper acoustics the building could be made to contain the sound that he now finds so difficult to live next to. "I only want to be a fair neighbor," he repeats.

"With each show, we seem to find a need for an unusual prop — a piece of furniture or a period costume..."
Henriette Napear, of the Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre, has issued a plea throughout central New Jersey for donations.

NEW MORTGAGE
With Adjustable Rate. A new mortgage called the Horizon Affordable Mortgage is now available through Horizon Bancorp, the parent company of Princeton Bank. According to a spokesperson for the bank, it is the only mortgage in New Jersey without points.

It is offered with an interest rate of 12 percent and a payment rate of nine percent. Monthly payments are lower in the initial years, with an interest rate adjustment every six months.

Payment amounts will increase five percent annually during the first ten years. At five-year intervals thereafter, the loan balance and remaining term will be reviewed and, if necessary, the payment will be adjusted so that continuing late fall, the new Forrester five-percent increases allow location will also have a retail balance to be paid by branch office providing all banking services to business firms and residents of the area. It will have drive-in window, and automatic banking conventional fixed-rate, 13 percent mortgage of $65,000 would mean monthly payments of $723.

Under the Horizon plan, initial monthly payments would be $200 less — $523. "The five percent increment is well within the means of the average consumer," says Polly DiGiovacchino, vice-president of Princeton Bank's mortgage department, "and low enough to be an extremely positive feature. Most other adjustable rate mortgages increase by at least seven and one-half percent each year."

BANK COMPLETES MOVE
To Forrester Center. The four-story building will be renamed the Princeton Bank Building — although Exxon Office Systems is also a tenant — now that the bank has completed moving its administrative headquarters to Princeton Forrester Center.

In compliance with a ruling of the State Supreme Court, all newspapers must ascertain that employment ads do not discriminate between sexes.
For example, titles such as "Salesman," "Nurse" and "Girl Friday" should be replaced, respectively, by "Salesperson," "Nurse (M/F)" and "General Office Work M/F". TOWN TOPICS has a copy of the Division of Civil Rights booklet, "A Guide for Employers to the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination," and will provide assistance in the wording of all such ads upon request. Advertisers' cooperation is sought in meeting the requirements of the law.

A master suite with study, fireplace and full bath is divine (you should see the views!) and there are two other bedrooms and hall bath upstairs. Two studio rooms with skylights and country fixings are in the attic/loft third story. All on almost four acres with a brook and Sylvan pool, not to mention, a stone terrace/patio and lovely gardens with a two-story barn and other outbuildings to complete this pretty picture. Near the Bedens Brook Club just off Province Line Road. Asking: $365,000

Princeton Resident, Returning from Peace Corps Service, Remembers with Affection the People of a Gambian Village

A Princeton resident has returned from a stint with the Peace Corps in West Africa with warm feelings for the people of the village in Gambia with whom she lived and worked and a new appreciation for the place of polygamy in certain societies.

Ann Wilson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Wilson of Grover Avenue, was a health educator working primarily with women and children in a Muslim village of 400 people living in thatched huts. She learned to carry water on her head ("It was great for my sense of balance," she says), took baths in a bucket and slept under mosquito netting in a mud house with a tin roof.

She has positive things to say about the Peace Corps which has steered down from its idealistic high of the early 1960's but still is a respected and welcome organization of some 6,000 volunteers around the world.

Miss Wilson is a 1976 graduate of Princeton High School who majored in cultural anthropology at Beloit and knew in college that she wanted to go to Africa. Volunteering for any kind of health program, she was assigned as a health educator, which does not require a specific background, and left for Gambia in February, 1981.

Thorough Training. A sliver of a country 300 miles long and 15 miles wide, Gambia looks on the map like a little thorn stuck in the bulging side of West Africa. It is surrounded by Senegal on all sides, except for its Atlantic coast, and it in turn surrounds the 200-mile long River Gambia used to transport slaves and other trade from inland. The village in which Alex Haley had his roots was 10 miles from the village in which she lived.

But first there were three months of training in Gambia in language, culture and teaching techniques. She learned the "Wula" language and was assigned a Gambian counterpart who was an experienced community health worker. She had a Honda motorcycle with which to travel from school to school and to the clinic—all within a 10-mile radius.

She found the teaching of nutrition and hygiene by singing songs, telling stories, and acting out what needed to be learned the most rewarding part of her job. Gambia was colonized by the British, and the British rote system of teaching prevails in the schools, but kids and teachers alike were responsive to her different methods. Ann found. The other main part of her job was working at a maternal and child welfare clinic, checking the weight and blood pressure of pregnant women and advising on how to feed children under age five. Her Gambian counterpart gave immunization shots, and there was a nurse-midwife available for special problems, but it was Ann's job to organize the clinic so that it ran smoothly. She also gave health lessons in nutrition and hygiene and she showed how to make rehydration solutions of readily available water, salt and sugar to counteract diarrhea, the largest killer of children in the area. Sometimes she went to the home to show a mother how to make a meal with more protein or to see a child sick with diarrhea.

A BLONDE AMONG BLACK AFRICANS: Photographed in the Gambia Village in which she lived for two years as a Peace Corps volunteer, Ann Wilson is wearing one of the many colorful long dresses and skirts made while she was there. Gambian women are not allowed to show their thighs, and with a deft knot at the waist they transform a big square of decorated cloth into a long skirt.

Variety in Work. Other projects included working with women in a community vegetable garden begun by the volunteer whom she replaced, helping build a school block of four classrooms and teaching women the dyeing and soap making to generate income for themselves. "The day was erratic and full of frustrations," Ann reports. "I was responsible for pushing myself out of bed and deciding what I was going to do that day. It is frustrating when you don't see much progress, but I tell myself that the women and school children in my village are more aware of health issues. The school children may have taken it all in—that is my hope, anyway."

The pervasive poverty is a major handicap, Ann thinks. "I started out very gung-ho. I'd think this mother would be listening to me, but I came to realize that what I had told her simply took too much time. I learned to lower my expectations, and to suggest, for instance, that she boil water for drinking at the same time she was boiling water for rice."

Life in a Family. Although she had her own house, Ann ate all meals and celebrated holidays and family events with the family she lived with. "The people were great," she says enthusiastically. "It was a thrill for them that I was there. I can't say enough for them."

Strangers—guests—are treated with great respect in Gambia. For the first month, Ann wasn't allowed to fetch her own water, and she was given a special place in which to sit. When the special tea was brewed, she was given one of the first glasses, although first glasses are customarily given to men in a land where "men are definite-critically-acclaimed films from West Germany are now being shown as the current pair in Summer Cinema's program of double features. As always, screenings are in Kresge Auditorium in the Frick Chemical Building, Washington Road. Both features will play through this Sunday.

BETRAYER AND BETRAYED: In Harold Pinter's "Betrayal," Jerry (Martin Holson, left) has an affair with the wife of his best friend, Robert (Steve Horner, right). The Pinter drama will be on stage at Murray Theatre in a NewStage production, starting this Thursday.

News of the Theatres

"The Tin Drum" and "Das Boot" are both being shown in the original German with English subtitles.

Winner of the 1979 Oscar as Best Foreign Film, "The Tin Drum" is based on Gunter Grass' novel, which he has designed as a metaphor for modern Germany — although Summer Cinema says the film is not "another display of the guilty German conscience."

In the film, a three-year-old decides not to grow any more physically because he does not want to participate in what he regards as the obscenity of adult existence. Instead, he goes through life armed with a tin drum and his ultimate weapon — a shattering scream.

Regarded by many critics as one of the best submarine films ever made, "Das Boot" is about a German U-boat in 1941. There are the usual melodramatic touches — the slow leak, the long waits on the bottom, the claustrophobic tensions and above all, the deteriorating morale.

The director sees the issue not as victory, but as survival and the ending of the film bears a grim anti-war message.

'BETRAYAL'

Pinter, at NewStage. The quintessential love triangle: husband, wife, husband's best friend. That's Harold Pinter's "Betrayal," not in its film version but in NewStage's presentation directed by Veronica Brady.

It will open this Thursday at 8 as the final offering of NewStage's 1983 season of four plays. The stage is in Murray Theatre, on the Princeton University campus. "Betrayal" will play week-ends through Sunday, August 14.

In this production, Fran Whalen will play the part of Emma and Steve Horner will be her husband, Robert. Martin Hilson has been cast as Robert's best friend, Jerry. Gianni Eusepi will be the Italian waiter.

Pinter's play, divided into nine scenes, moves back in time through the stages of the affair, exploring the means that justify the final end. Reservations may be made by calling 452-8181, Wednesdays through Sundays from noon to 6.

ONE-ACTERS

Shaw, Wilder and Woody. Three one-act plays will be given at various locations and dates over the next week by Princeton's Street Theatre.

The plays are George Bernard Shaw's "Passion, Poison and Petrification," Thornton Wilder's "Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden," and Woody Allen's "My Apology." The program will be given again this Friday at the YWCA in Princeton; this Saturday at Community Park North in Princeton and this Sunday in Van Ness Park, West Windsor. Admission is free, and a donation is asked. Those who attend should take lawn chairs or a blanket.

Members of the cast are Peg Fox, Elizabeth Toner, Duncan Wood, Ken Fowler and Adrienne Miller.

PORTER AND KATE

At Open Air, "Kiss Me Kate," the Cole Porter favorite, will play the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing, this weekend and next, with opening night this Thursday and performances Friday and Saturday and again Wednesday through Saturday, August 10-13. Curtain time each night is 8:30.

In this Backstage Breaks production, Norman Hart and Kelly Rodrigues have the leading roles of Frederick, the second-rate actor director and his ex-wife Lilli, who also plays the parts of Petruchio and Katherine in Shakespeare's comedy.

Others in the cast are Susan Guerra, John Watson Stewart, Jeff Byrum, Murray Rubenstein and Jim Kennedy. Richard Niedt is directing. Richard Lozman is music director and Nancy Thiel is choreographer — the same group presented last year's "West Side Story" at Open Air.

BLUEGRASS IN PARK
West Windsor. The Magnolia Road Bluegrass Band will give a free concert Saturday, August 6 at 7 p.m. in Mercer County Park, West Windsor. It's part of the summer "Music in the Park" series presented by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Division.

The band has been playing its own blend of bluegrass, old-time country music and folk music for more than four years in central and southern New Jersey, performing at fairs, shopping malls, carnivals and public parks. The Music in the Park performance will be next to the ice rink in Mercer County Park. If it rains, the concert will be in the rink. There is no reserved seating.

FLUTE INSTRUCTION
And Other Offerings. The Conservatory Division of Westminster College is introducing several new programs this fall. Among the new offerings are Suzuki method instruction in flute, a broad-based chamber music program, "Opera Outings," and a College Readiness Certificate Program.

Suzuki flute instruction is based upon the same principles as the Suzuki method of teaching violin, cello, and piano. It states that musical ability is not an inborn talent but an ability which can be developed. It believes that any child, properly trained, can develop musical ability just as all children have developed their ability to speak their mother tongue.

This "mother tongue" approach includes listening to pieces before and while learning to play them. The parent becomes the teacher at home and is asked to attend each weekly private and class lesson with the child. Because flutes do not come in graduated sizes (like violins and cellos), students must start at a later age. Students as young as 5 and 6 will be accepted for this program, depending on their physical maturity.

Teaching Suzuki flute in the fall will be Dr. Lynne Cooksey. She holds a D.M.A. in flute performance-musicology from North Texas State University where she was on the applied teaching staff, a M.M. in flute performance from the Manhattan School of Music where she was a scholarship student of the late John Wummer, and a B.M. from Southern Methodist University.

She has been on the faculties of Hastings College and Kearney State College in Nebraska, and Southwest Missouri State University, and has taught at the Greenwich House Music School and the Bronxville Schools in New York.

Her performing experience includes playing with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, the Spoleto Festival Orchestra, the Fort Worth Symphony and the New World Chamber Players. She has been a soloist with the Nebraska Chamber perience is such an important part of one's musical training, the Westminster Conservatory is planning to make chamber music more readily available to students at almost any level of ability. Students will be auditioned and put into small groups of players at their own level and will meet once a week for 45 minutes.

Music in Princeton

Groups will be scheduled in the same way as private lessons, directly with the teacher involved.

Opera Outings. The "Opera Outings" program, which is also being initiated this year, provides bus transportation to a series of Saturday matinee performances at the Metropolitan Opera and coordinates preparatory classes with each of these trips. Tickets are available as a full subscription of seven operas, or in partial packets of three or four shows.

Any tickets remaining will be sold individually. People may sign up for any or all of the classes, whether or not they attend the performances.

The College Readiness Certificate Program is designed for serious students who wish to pursue an organized schedule of music classes and applied instruction. This plan should be especially attractive to young people who wish to explore the possibility of music as a future profession or as a major field of study in college.

Adults who have made other career choices but who now wish to obtain more thorough musical training and experience will also find this program well suited to their needs.

Classes will include music theory, music literature, ear training, conducting and individual instruction in a major and minor performance area. All those participating will be graded and receive continuing education credits for all work successfully completed. Those attaining the Westminster Conservatory Certificate should have mastered the information and developed the skills necessary to do successful work in major college and university music degree programs.

Each of these new programs is listed in the Conservatory Fall catalog, which may be obtained by calling 921-7104 or 924-6359. Registration for "Opera Outings" is currently underway. Registration for the regular fall semester will begin on August 15.

Here's an amazing oddity... There was once a big league baseball player who hit a home run EVERY time he got a hit one season!... He was Clem Labine, a Dodger pitcher... In 1955, Labine made only 3 hits all season — but every one of those hits was a homer!

It's a little-known fact that golfer Jack Nicklaus' father once played in the National Football League... Jack's father, Charlie, was a lineman one year in the early days of the NFL.

Three cheers for the red, white, and blue... and S.D.B.'s claim service.
Here's an oddity that's hard to believe, but it's true... Jack Norworth, the man who wrote the most famous baseball song of all time, "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," had never seen a baseball game when he wrote that song — and what is even stranger is this: After he wrote the song in 1906, and became famous and made lots of money from it, Norworth waited 34 more years — till 1940 — to go see his first big league game!

DAN GRIGGS RESIGNS
Before Season Begins
Remember Dan Griggs? Of course not, he wasn't around long enough to be remembered by anyone except possibly the most devoted Princeton football fan, who avidly follows all the news, even in the off-season.

Griggs was the first new assistant coach hired by Frank Navarro. He came aboard last January to replace Steve Schnall, who departed after back-to-back disastrous seasons by the Orange and Black on defense.

Griggs, a graduate of William Jewell College, was hired to coach the defensive secondary, but he didn't stick around long enough to pick up a ball. Last week, a month before the Tigers' pre-season camp was set to open, Griggs apparently got an offer he couldn't refuse from his alma mater. He will return there in an administrative capacity.

His sudden departure left Navarro scrambling to fill the vacant position, but he has already come up with a replacement. Steven Reese, defensive coordinator at Saginaw Valley State College in Michigan for the last three years will take over the defensive backfield duties.

A native of New Philadelphia, Ohio, Reese is a 1967 graduate of Heidelberg College and received his master's degree from Eastern Michigan University in 1970.

He began his coaching career at Monroe (Mich.) Catholic Central High School as an assistant line coach. For the next four years, he was an assistant line coach at New Boston (Mich.) High School before moving on to Romulus (Mich.) High School as offensive coordinator and assistant head coach. He served from 1973 to 1975 as head coach of football at Saginaw Buena Vista High School and from 1975 until 1979 as coach of defensive ends and linebackers at Northwood Institute in Midland, Mich.

The rest of Princeton's assistant coaching staff includes offensive coordinator Hank Small, receiver coach Al Pearman, defensive coordinator John Knudson, offensive line coach, Dave Barton and defensive line coach Steve Frank. The last two are new this season.

The Tigers will begin fall training August 26, and will open the season against defending Ivy co-champion Dartmouth on September 17 in Hanover. TOWN TOPICS' pre-season coverage of the team will begin later this month.

TWO TEAMS LEFT
In Women's Softball Playoffs. The Princeton Women's Softball League first-round playoffs ended last week with Mike's Tavern sweeping Army-Navy State 11-4, and 23-0, and Conte's Bar stopping Andy's Tavern twice, 10-1, and 8-4.

Mike's collected 25 hits in its rout of Army-Navy in a game called after five innings under the 15-run rule. Debbie Breithaupt, Des Pearce, who had a home run, and Clare Baxter all rapped four hits for Mike's. Grace Durland, who scored five runs, and Kathy Shillaber each had three hits for the victors and Marilyn Stevens contributed two more. The losers' Nancy Gorlach had the only hit yielded by winning pitcher Lorraine Duthie.

Andy's outlasted Conte's 11-9 in its 8-4 loss and had a 4-0 lead in the bottom of the fifth on hits by Sue Presli and Cindy Nielsen and RBIs by Mary Fox, Ann Dowling and Debbie Wickenden.
After Conte's had scored an unearned run in the seventh, the Andy defense collapsed. With two outs, Conte's combined three hits — and four errors by its opponent — to score seven more runs. For Conte's, winning pitcher Carol Ann Mazzella, Peggy Wood and Cynthia Lucullo all had two hits apiece.

First Game, Final Round. In the first game of the championship round between Mike's and Conte's, Mike's outlasted Conte's, 14-13.

Mike's jumped to an 8-1 lead after two innings on the hitting of Durland (4-for-4), Breithaupt, Pearce, Sally Tosco, Cathy Talarick and Shillaber. Then after both teams had played four runs in the third, Conte's erupted for five more runs in the sixth to trail by two, 13-11. Leading hitters for Mike's included Peggy Wood, Lane Ivan (homer), Barbie Falcone, and Connie Clobossey who had a double and triple among her three hits.

After Mike's had pushed one more run across in the bottom of the sixth to go up by three, Conte's, as it has all season, battled back and scored two more runs in the final inning before winning pitcher Duthie was able to get the final out and preserve the win.

NAUTILUS WINS TITLE
In Men's Softball League. Princeton Nautilus last week captured the regular season championship of the Men's Softball League with a 15-6 victory over Stefanelli's.

Entering its final two games, Nautilus needed a win over Buffalo Wings or Stefanelli's to clinch the title. It was forced to go to the wire when Buffalo Wings engineered a 6-5 upset.

In the big win over Stefanelli's, Dave Shillaber led the way for Nautilus with two homers among his three hits, five RBIs and three runs scored. Teammate Brent Robinson also contributed three hits while Pat Kahny, Scott Porreca, Jeff Petrone and winning pitcher Jim Lennon all had two hits apiece. Jack Petrone, and Kevin Phox each batted in two runs and Ken Bruvik, Kahny and Porreca all scored two. Nautilus broke the game open when it scored eight runs in the third inning. Earlier, against Buffalo Wings, Nautilus was the

GIANACACI REPEATS

As Springdale Champion, John Gianacaci won the men's match play championship at Springdale Golf Club last weekend when he defeated Willie Rosso in the 36-hole final round, 5 and 4.

In winning, the 28-year-old Gianacaci joins John Grover and Moore Gates as the only players to win the Springdale title three years in a row. Last year, Gianacaci edged Dave Shillaber in the first hole of a sudden death playoff for his second win.

After Saturday's round against Rosso, Gianacaci was three holes up; on Sunday, even though Rosso shot even par for the first nine holes, he found himself five down as Gianacaci, a Princeton resident and former captain of the University of Dayton golf team, fired six birdies in the first 11 holes.

To reach the final round, Gianacaci defeated Jim Litvak, Bob Beck and Jim Powell. His handicap at Springdale is zero—the club's lowest.

ly considered superior," she says.

She took a Gambian name, Naneh Jallow, meaning "mother," which the head of the village gave her, naming her after a revered woman who had died. "The fact that I spoke the language was really appreciated," Ann says, "and the better I learned it, the more fun I had."

The village was very religious, and so was her family. Although the Koran permits as many as four wives, her father had three, each with her own house and each permitted four nights with her husband in his house. All the wives got along well with one another, Ann says.

"Women's Lib won't hit Gambia for a long time," she laughs, but she adds that multiple wives are an advantage for women in that society. "I'm all for polygamy in a place like the Gambia where the woman does so much of the work," she says.

There were 11 children in the compound all the time, of which only five were sired by the father, plus relatives coming in and out. All the women discipline the children, Ann says, but only the real mother can hit a child.

Building a Mosque. The father was a farmer, but at the time she was there he was in charge of construction for the building of a mosque. The village had a "big holy man" who had decreed no drumming or dancing at celebrations for marriage or the naming of a child. Villagers would give this man money, and he would pray for them. Ann says he had thousands of dollars in Gambian currency, and thus an elaborate mosque was erected.

She has pictures of the finished white-washed stucco structure with its four minarets rising majestically above the thatched roof huts of the village. The whole thing was erected by hand labor, the only machine used being a single small hand-cranked cement mixer.

Highs and Lows. There were times when Ann grew tired of fetching her water and sweeping her dirt floor, when she would long for Americans and the old life she knew. "I was not homesick, but America-sick."

But this was countered by her warm feeling for her Gambian family to whom she now writes letters that are read by the teacher in the village. She on Friday, but even those who enjoyed travelling about the country and visiting with the other Peace Corps volunteers, a chance to sign up for courses there were 43 in Gambia, in person.

Everyone with a different experience, and the government would have liked twice as many, Ann says.

Teaching health is the big use of Peace Corps volunteers in Gambia, but on other projects include forestry, helping to set up cooperatives, book production and bee keeping. Education, once the prime work of volunteers, is no longer so, as Gambians themselves now fill this role.

Last Christmas Ann's parents, her brother and sister, all came to visit their Peace Corps daughter. It was the event of the year, Ann says, and all were given Gambian names. Ritual greeting is very important, and Ann was careful to go to every compound to announce her family's coming and to take them to the five head men upon arrival. There was a party with tea, cookies and popcorn, and character villages came continuously to pay a call and greet the Americans. Office at 586-4800, ext. 228.

Before leaving Gambia, Ann became a trainer herself of a new group of Peace Corps health workers. She is enthusiastic about the Peace Corps and would like to recruit others as volunteers. She also would "definitely" like to go back to Africa "for whatever kind of jobs I can do."

But meanwhile she is looking at graduate school programs in cultural anthropology or in linguistics, having had such a marked success with the Wulu language. The experience of living in another culture was very valuable to her, and she thinks she may have gotten more out of it than the Gambians did.

To Ann the country is beautiful and the people have a great sense of humor. "If you go to Africa," she tells a visitor, "you'll learn how to laugh. The family is paramount, and who you marry, your relationships with other family are very important."

ETS Acted Fairly in Test Invalidation, Judge Rules in Suit Brought by Students

Educational Testing Service acted fairly when it invalidated the SAT scores of four students it believed had cheated when they took the test. The ruling came last Thursday in New Brunswick from Judge Richard S. Cohen of Middlesex County Superior Court, Chancery Division, after a three-week trial. There was no jury.

The four youths had sued ETS to keep the testing firm from invalidating the scores. Their attorney, George B. Gelman, said he was "absolutely shocked" at Judge Cohen's ruling. ETS' evidence was only "circumstantial," he declared, "a piece of statistical garbage."

He stated that his clients will appeal. ETS is restrained from informing the students' colleges of the trial's results for the next 15 days, pending the appeal.

Judge Cohen did not rule on the guilt or innocence of the four students. The only issue, he had said early in the proceedings, was whether ETS had caused to question the four scores, and had acted fairly when it invalidated them.

A member of the ETS staff said the ruling was "gratifying" because the judge endorsed ETS' procedures. ETS' own Board of Review "did operate independently, deliberately and conscientiously," the judge said, adding that he accepted the judgment of experts who explained and approved of the statistical method ETS uses to determine the probability of cheating. The method measures the number of identical wrong answers.

Of 85 questions on the verbal section of the SAT, all four youths agreed on 42 correct answers, according to their attorney, and three or more agreed on 17 incorrect answers. ETS' witnesses maintained that the probability of that much three-or-four-way agreement occurring by chance, is less than one in 300 billion.

"There were no departures from established ETS policies and procedures that unfairly affected the plaintiffs and the determination ETS made whether to question their scores," the judge wrote.

Air Rights Ordinance Successfully Introduced By Council with Woodbridge Back, Bearse Gone

By a 3-2 vote — a mirror image of the 3-2 vote on the previous occasion — Borough Council last Thursday successfully introduced the ordinance granting air rights to Collins Development for construction of a four-story bridge across Palmer Square East.

The bridge is designed to link the present Nassau Inn with Collins' proposed addition to the Inn across Palmer Square East on the strip of land now used as a parking lot.

Public hearing will be Tuesday, September 13 at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. If the ordinance passes, Collins will pay the Borough $120,000 over a five-year period for the right to build the bridge. The amount is almost double the $63,000 suggested by appraiser Joseph Martin.

The first attempt to introduce the ordinance was July 20, when introduction was defeated by a 3-2 vote. Since that date, Council member Richard Woodbridge has

Township Will Sue DOT and Calton Homes For Violating I-92 Alignment Understanding

Princeton Township has filed two identically worded suits in the Appellate Division and the Law Division of the New Jersey Superior Court.

The actions have been taken on behalf of northeastern Township residents who are upset about a change in the Route 92 alignment that would cause the destruction of one home and require deep cuts and blasting in the diabase ridge along the border. However, the residents themselves have not as yet joined in the suit, nor initiated a suit of their own, as earlier this summer they had suggested they might.

Sewer Use Fees to Increase Under Revised Repair Policy

A new policy for sewer rehabilitation and maintenance and providing the necessary funds for continued monitoring of the sewers is memorialized in a resolution that came before Township Committee last Monday night.

An identical resolution is expected in the Borough, because it is the intention of officials in both municipalities to put forth a united front on the long-standing problem of sewer repair. Action on the resolution in the Township, however, was postponed until September 12, when all Committee members are expected to be back from vacation. Only three were present Monday.

The resolution begins by stating that "it is the desire" of the municipality "to set forth a clear written public policy statement as to the intention" of the municipality "to continue with a vigorous program of sewer rehabilitation and maintenance with regard to the publicly owned sanitary system within the Princeton community." It goes on to say that the Borough and Township "wish to eliminate all discharges except into the sewerage treatment plants."

The Sewer Operating Committee, it says, shall be guided by the principle that the annualized cost of removal of all discharges shall be equal to or less than the annual cost of treating the flow to be removed. To accomplish this removal of infiltration and inflow (I and I), and to maintain an acceptable I and I level, the SOC is directed to have a monitoring and evaluation program in operation continuously and issue reports on I and I annually.
